A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

- 3. As to claims 16 29 and 31, Tornblom discloses an electrical defect testing device comprising for a non-magnetic effect comprising eddy current method for studying stress corrosion cracking comprising subjecting the component to a first eddy-current producing signal of a first frequency (col. 5, lines 38 44); determining a property of the base material responsive to the first signal having a depth of penetration including the base material; subjecting the component to a second eddy-current producing signal of a second frequency, the first frequency lower than the second frequency (col. 6, lines 32 40), and determining a property of the degraded component responsive to the second signal having a depth of penetration including the degraded region, wherein the property of the degraded region comprises conductivity or permeability; wherein the base body and the degraded region do not contain ferromagnetic material (Note Abstract, col. 4, lines 25 26, lines 56 65 and col. 8, lines 9 11, lines 17 27 and lines 48 59).
